J3ZZ is an electronic music artist and audiovisual performer based in [City]. Their work explores the intersection of experimental sound design, live coding, and generative visuals, creating immersive performances that challenge conventional boundaries between music and digital art.

With a background in both computer science and music composition, J3ZZ has developed a unique approach to live electronic music, incorporating real-time algorithmic processes and modular synthesis into performances that are both technically sophisticated and emotionally resonant.

Their work has been featured at prestigious festivals and venues across Europe, North America, and Asia, including performances at Sonar Festival, MUTEK, and Atonal Berlin.
